DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Leistner (5,762,190). Leistner discloses a storing and organizing system comprising: a holder for storing and organizing tools, the holder having a first side and a second, opposite side; and a plurality of apertures in the holder, each aperture extending from the first side to the second, opposite side; wherein each aperture is adapted to receive a tool. See Figures 1-2 embodiments.

It has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nakata et al. (4,955,476). Nakata '476 discloses a storing and organizing system comprising: a holder for storing and organizing tools, the holder having a first side and a second, opposite side; and a plurality of apertures in the holder, each aperture extending from the first side to the second, opposite side; wherein each aperture is adapted to receive a tool. See Figure 1 embodiment.

It has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

4. Claims 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hickman (5,499,724). Hickman '724 discloses a storing and organizing system comprising: a holder for storing and organizing tools, the holder having a first side and a second, opposite side; and at least one pin formed as an integral part of the holder, protruding outward from the first side and the second side; where the at least one pin is capable of receiving a die.

It has been held that the term "integral" is sufficiently broad to embrace constructions united by such means as fastening and welding. In re Hotte, 177 USPQ 396, 328 (CCPA 1973).

The die recited in claims 20-21 is being treated as merely modifying the intended use phrase of claim 1, and, thus, not requiring a die.

A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

5. Claims 1-3 and 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ferranti (5,385,183). Ferranti '183 discloses a storing and organizing system comprising: a holder (flat rectangular bar 11) for storing and organizing tools, the holder having a first side and a second, opposite side; and at least one pin (screw 13) formed as an integral part of the holder, protruding outward from the first side and the second side; where the at least one pin is capable of receiving a die.

It has been held that the term "integral" is sufficiently broad to embrace constructions united by such means as fastening and welding. In re Hotte, 177 USPQ 396, 328 (CCPA 1973).

The die recited in claims 20-21 is being treated as merely modifying the intended use phrase of claim 1, and, thus, not requiring a die.

A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 11-17 and 22-27 are allowed.
7. Claims 5-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 09/15/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

It has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Art Unit: 3728

A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Shown are storing and organizing systems analogous to applicant's invention.

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
